FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE (July 19, 2018)

Your new favorite Harvest Ale Festival is coming on October 13th

The Nebraska Craft Brewers Guild, Nebraska Hop Program and Midwest Hop Producers present the inaugural Nebraska Harvest Ale Festival

The Nebraska Craft Brewers Guild, Nebraska Extension Hop Program and Midwest Hop Producers are thrilled to announce a new and exciting event that promotes community and the hop growing and craft brewing industries. The Harvest Ale Festival will take place on Saturday, October 13th at Midwest Hop Producers in Plattsmouth, Nebraska and will celebrate local hops and local beer with food, beer tastings, fall activities and music.

While we might be drenched in sweat under the summer sun busily preparing for harvest this fall, we can look forward to fall days with a nip in the air, crisp beers with fresh hop aromas, and gatherings with friends as the sun goes down. This unique outdoor festival will feature tastings of fresh hopped and harvest styled brews highlighting local hop and craft brew production in Nebraska, local food trucks, scenic views of the largest hop yard in Nebraska, and an afternoon you won't forget among friends.

This event will bring people from all over the Midwest together and a portion of the proceeds from the event will be going to support the efforts of the Nebraska Craft Brewers Guild and the Nebraska Hop Program's research and extension hop yard. Both of these organizations are working hard to better the craft brewing industry in the state!

Pastors, church staff, administrators and facility managers, children and student ministry directors, security team members, deacons.

Day 1: Church Security Planning At the end of the day, you'll be thoroughly equipped to begin (or re-launch or improve) your church security ministry. Each participant will leave with a comprehensive, practical 75- page workbook so that you can bring the day's learning home with you and put it into action.

We'll address topics including:

- Intruder response
- Lockdown
- Offering collection, protection, and transport
- Nursery security
- Medical response
- Volunteer selection
- Armed vs. unarmed security
- Protecting the pastor
- The role of ushers and greeters

Day 2: Intruder Awareness/Response and Conflict Management

Equip and empower your frontline team (security volunteers, ushers, greeters) to spot and stop trouble before it starts. This training helps team members identify suspicious behavior and act peacefully and proactively with the goal of deescalating potential conflicts.

Key topics will include:

- §• Creating a culture of awareness

Church Security and Intruder

Response Training: 2 Days Plattsmouth, NE

Friday, September 7, 2018. 8:00 a.m.-4:30p.m.

Saturday, September 8, 2018. 8:00 a.m.-3:00p.m.

Many churches have taken comfort in the thought that "it could never happen here."

But headlines and a steadily-growing body of statistical evidence demonstrate that violence in faith-based organizations is not an if, but a when.

The Church Security Planning and Intruder Awareness training will equip your staff and key volunteers to create a personalized security plan that protects your congregation while maintaining a welcoming environment.

Who should attend?

Lockdown

- Recognizing suspicious behavior
- Approaching suspicious or armed individuals
 - Verbal conflict management & de-escalation

Workplace Violence and Intruder Response Training, Plattsmouth, NE

4-hour session

Friday, August 24, 2018.

8:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Participants will learn to identify potential threats in the workplace and to respond to violent intruders.

What if ...

A violent event occurred in your office? Store? Factory?
Hospital?

How would it impact employees, customers, family members and patients?

Law enforcement is on your side, but is minutes away in the best-case scenario. What will happen in the 4-10 minutes (or more) that it takes officers to arrive?

Hope is not a strategy. Preparation is.

Although discussing active shooters and violent intruders may make managers uncomfortable, it actually improves employee morale when workers know you have a plan and take threats seriously. Even more importantly, it could save lives.

Who should attend?

Workplace leaders, administrators, supervisors, human resource personnel, security, personnel who interact with the public and customers.

Participants will learn to:

Course description

This course combines information and application for an optimal learning experience.

It includes both classroom and hands-on, scenario-based training. The active training is conducted by experts with years of experience in preparing employees for intruder threats. Scenarios are safe and orderly but are designed to activate participants' sympathetic nervous system ("fight or flight" response) so the training is not only theory but practice. This approach is the most effective way of teaching employees to not only lockdown a facility, but respond to worst-case scenarios.

- Recognize behavioral precursors (body language, behaviors, facial cues) that can lead to violent incidents
- Recognize the frequency of intruder-related violence in the workplace
- Identify and recognize risk factors inherent to the workplace
- Recognize law enforcement's capabilities and limitations in responding to these emergencies
- Understand and accept that the violent intruder event will most likely be over before law enforcement arrives or as soon as the intruder becomes aware of law enforcement's presence
- Understand the importance of awareness, education and training for frontline personnel (those who frequently interact and lockout intruders)

- Understand attackers' goals and motivations
- Lockdown to protect employees and customers
- Understanding "Normalcy Bias" how to overcome it
- Understand what to do when lockdown fails
- Understand The Three Outs: Get Out, Lock Out, Take Out

COST: $60.⁰⁰
